

1st stakeholders meeting

Brussels, 24 June 2019

Morning session (10:00 – 13:00): Inspection of stand-alone ventilation systems

Afternoon session (14:00 – 17:00): Building renovation passport

Centre Albert Borschette, room 0.D (ground floor)
Rue Froissart 36

Article 19a of the Energy Performance of Buildings Directive (EPBD) introduces the requirement for the European Commission to perform a feasibility study addressing two issues:

- a) the possible introduction of EU provisions on the inspection of stand-alone ventilation systems and
- b) the possible introduction of EU provisions on an optional building renovation passport.

DG ENER from the European Commission awarded the contract to perform the study to a consortium led by INIVE and BPIE (www.epbd19a.eu).

The European Commission and the consortium carrying out the study are committed to actively engage stakeholders, collect their input and viewpoints, and consider their feedback in relation to study results.

In this context, a first stakeholder meeting is taking place in Brussels on 24 June 2019 and we would be glad to welcome you and receive your input to the study.

The meeting consists of two independent parts, each addressing one of the two study issues.

The morning session focuses on the “inspection of stand-alone ventilation systems”, sharing preliminary outcomes of the study, the relevant online survey, as well as related field analyses, to give an overview of the state of the art regarding regulations, standards and guidelines available in the EU and beyond, as well as the stock of ventilation systems and their performances. Existing approaches and those currently under development will be presented and stakeholders will discuss the feasibility and expected impact of potential relevant measures at EU level.

The afternoon session will focus on “building renovation passports” and will discuss the concept, present results from the stakeholder survey, and introduce an overview of existing building renovation passport schemes and initiatives. Experiences from existing building renovation passport approaches will be presented in detail. The stakeholders will be asked to contribute their understanding of and opinion about the building renovation passport and its relevance and potential.

Registration to the meeting is possible at <https://www.epbd19a.eu/content/1st-stakeholders-meeting>. You may register for the morning session only, the afternoon session only, or for both sessions.

By registering to the meeting, you give the consortium and the European Commission your consent to access and process your personal data for the purposes of the study. The meeting might be audio and video recorded and/or live broadcasted through web streaming. When registering for and attending this meeting, you agree on the collection and on the processing of your personal data and on the publication of the audio and video recordings and/or web streaming. The recordings might be published on a publicly available website after the meeting.

Please allocate sufficient time before the event to go through security checks for entering the building. For the morning session, we recommend arrival at the meeting place half an hour to one hour before the meeting starts.

For further information about the study or stakeholder meeting, visit www.epbd19a.eu/.

We are looking forward to welcoming you on 24 June at the stakeholders meeting in Brussels!